How well do you follow directions answers

1. Write today's date--month-day-year in the top right hand corner of your test paper. 2. Write the answer to the following multiplication problem directly underneath the date on your test paper--6 X 5 = ? 3. Write the name of the month that begins with the letter "D" in the top left hand corner of your test paper. 4. Add 15 to the answer you got in part #2, and write this new total directly underneath your answer for part #3. 5. In the lower left hand corner of your test paper, write the names of your favorite singer and your favorite group. 6. Just above your answer to part #5, write "This test is very easy." 7. In the lower right hand corner of your test paper, draw a rectangle and inside the rectangle draw a five pointed star. The size of these drawings is not important. 8. Directly above your answer to part #7, draw a row of three small circles. Once again, size is not important. 9. Write the name of the first president of the United States on the back of your test paper anywhere you choose. If you don't know who this is, write your own name instead. 10. Write the name of any country that begins with the letter "I" directly underneath your answer to part #2. 11. Take the number of dwarfs in the Snow White story and add it to the number of bears in the Goldilocks story. Divide by 2. Write this total in the approximate center of your test paper. 12. Think of a number between 1 and 50. Double that number. Add 20. Add 6. Subtract 17. Subtract 9. Divide by 2. Write this number on your test paper directly underneath your answer to part #11. 13. Now that you have carefully read all of the parts so far, and you have not carried out any of the actual work, read the next 2 parts just to see what they say and then go back and only complete part #3. 14. The name of the first president of the United States is George Washington. He was president from 1789 until 1797. Add the 2 dates together to see if the total is less than 5000. 15. You should not be reading the end of the exam before the beginning of the exam, but now that you are here, you have just wasted some of the time you may need to complete the test. See how you did on the How Well Can You Follow Directions Test. The only writing you should have on your test paper is the word December. It should be located in the top left hand corner of the page. The directions specifically state to read all parts before doing anything. If you didn't do this, I suggest you do it now! Question 1 of 35 How to Answer Answer Example Answer Example Community Answers Answer this question with an example of a time you were given explicit or more complicated instructions and implemented the steps correctly. The interviewer will be looking for an example of your ability to take instructions and apply them correctly. "I take instructions very well. Being an apprentice, I swap between classroom training and on-the-job training. I take instructions well in both settings. Recently, I was given instructions for a more complicated job site. Even though some of the instructions were very simple, I was happy that my supervisor walked me through it so thoroughly to ensure that I understood before leaving me to it on my own." "I take instructions very well and am a good listener. I believe in obeying the rules and following instructions, doing my best at all times. Also, once I have gained instruction on a task, I never forget it." "I am a good listener. I prefer obeying rules and instructions. I try to do everything correctly. Once I learn it, I'll never forget." I have reworded your answer slightly to help with clarity. "I take instructions very well and am a good listener. Subjects Arts & Humanities--Language Arts Grade Brief Description This easy-to-use activity teaches valuable lessons about the importance of listening and following directions. Objectives Students will listen carefully and follow directions attentively. Keywords following directions, listening Materials Needed sheet of paper and a pencil Lesson Plan This simple lesson in following directions can be used at any time during the school year. As a matter of fact, you can drive home the importance of listening and following directions by using this lesson as a model for creating similar activities throughout the year. Provide students with a small sheet of writing paper. Then let them know that the activity you are about to do will prove how well they listen and follow directions. Let them know that you will state each instruction, then pause, then repeat the instruction. Add, But I will not repeat any instruction a third time, so you must listen very carefully. Proceed to give students the instructions below. Write your name first name on the last line of the paper at the left-hand margin. On the first line on the paper write the numbers 1 through 9. Start at the left and print the numbers. Leave a space between each number. Circle the number 6. Draw a star in the upper left-hand corner of the page. Fold your paper in half the long way. Open up your paper, then fold it the opposite way. Use the tip of your pencil to poke a hole in the center of the paper (the place where the two folds meet). Draw a heart around the hole you made in your paper. Write the first initial of your last name in the upper right-hand corner of the page. On the last line on the page, write the word done near the right margin. This is not a difficult assignment, but it does require listening. You might be surprised at how many students fail. Assessment You might let this "following directions quiz" serve as a simple exercise to drive home a point about the importance of listening and following directions. Alternatively, if student report cards have a spot where you grade students in "listening skills" or "following directions," you might use this as a graded activity. Repeat this activity once a month or so. Give a grade for each quiz. Do students grow in their ability to follow directions over the course of the school year? Or you might give students a following-directions quiz like this one, grade the number correct out of ten, and let students use their score as bonus points on the next test or quiz. For example: 10 correct = 10 bonus points, 9 correct = 9 bonus points...
